TAKUTO IZUMI - 陽のあたる場所 (Hino ataru basho) A place in the sun

*At dusk (beginning of night),
seeing a train pass away having dreams of any passengers,
I ask myself, where am I going.
Blowing in the wind of May, little bit cold yet,
I wanna walking by side of people hurrying their ways home.*

*Our innocent eyes are looking at me
from honesty days, we believed each other, in the past.*

*Sometimes I'm likely to lose you in my mind
While chasing such a repeatedly life.
And yet, I can't help praying for my happy.
Please forgive me, forgive me my darling.*

*Some friends tell me that a cold night always change to a fine day.
I can't face them, and I look at that the sun also rises.
Holding myself be tired,
Also today I walking on my life*

*Sometimes I'm likely to lose you in my mind
While blaming somebody for such a repeatedly life.
And yet, I can't help praying for believing each other with somebody.
Please forgive me, forgive me my darling.*

*At long way to blue sky,
I'm standing and thinking with a atonement.*

*Sometimes I'm likely to lose you in my mind.
But I want my darling to whisper "It's alright".
And yet, I can't help praying for seeking a place in the sun again with somebody.
Please forgive me, forgive me my darling.*
